How I think I did in this session:

Welcome back!

On Wednesday 20th September, we held our first student council meeting of the year. The pupils took the opportunity to discuss what they felt makes a good lesson from their perspective. Some great thoughts and ideas were shared and discussed, including having less content in lessons and more time to ask questions and explore. As part of their work, they have helped in creating a questionnaire with their top four questions. The next steps will be to get this out to other classes around school before collating the information. We are super proud of our student council for all their hard work and look forward to sharing with you all their findings!

Pupils worked hard today, discussing what they felt made a good lesson. We used symbols to support when required. Between them they agreed on 4 questions to share with the whole school.
